Founding History of Creative Devices

Creative Devices, the dream child of Dr. B.M. Umesh Kumar, was his first venture and the business that paved the way for all his future ventures.

After completing his Diploma, B.C.A., and MBA, Dr. Umesh Kumar pursued technical training at MICO, laying a strong foundation for his engineering career.

He then gained valuable industry experience at the renowned German company, Robert Bosch, which was, at the time, well-known for its lift manufacturing. This role allowed Umesh to develop specialized expertise in lift technology.

Seeking broader experience, he moved to Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, where he worked with Alfanar Electric Systems Company, further deepening his technical knowledge. During his early years, Umesh also traveled extensively to countries like Dubai, Saudi Arabia, Singapore, Abu Dhabi, Bahrain, Malaysia, and Sri Lanka, gaining significant life experience and a global perspective.

Driven by a desire to contribute to his homeland and guided by the philosophy “Become an entrepreneur – provide employment,” Umesh returned to India in 2008.

Around this time, Bangalore was witnessing a rise in residential multi-storey buildings, which made the need for elevators essential—especially for the elderly, disabled, and those with health conditions. Recognizing this growing demand, and armed with his technical expertise, Umesh Kumar decided to launch his own venture.

With the support of mentors and like-minded peers, he founded Creative Devices, a company focussed on lift manufacturing. This marked Umesh Kumar’s first entrepreneurial step.

Starting with small-scale lifts, Creative Devices steadily expanded its offerings to include a wide range of elevators. Through continuous innovation and customer-focused design, the company earned a strong reputation across India. It not only met growing market needs but also created numerous employment opportunities.

Today, Creative Devices stands as one of the leading lift manufacturers in the region, continuing its journey of success and service.

“Welcome to Creative Devices,
